Draft resolution submitted by the President of the General Assembly

International Day of Happiness

The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolution 65/309 of 19 July 2011 inviting Member States to pursue the elaboration of additional measures that better capture the importance of the pursuit of happiness and well-being in development with a view to guiding their public policies,

Recognizing the relevance and importance of happiness as a universal goal and aspiration in the lives of human beings around the world and that happiness can be achieved by balancing the needs of the body with those of the mind within a peaceful and secure environment,

1. Decides to proclaim 24 September as the International Day of Happiness;

2. Invites all Member States, organizations of the United Nations system and other international and regional organizations, as well as civil society, including non-governmental organizations and individuals, to observe the International Day of Happiness in an appropriate manner, including through education and public awareness-raising activities;

3. Requests the Secretary-General to bring the present resolution to the attention of all Member States, organizations of the United Nations system and civil society organizations for appropriate observance.
